

Kushagra Mittal

Post Graduate Programme in Public Policy and Management (PGPPM) 2018-19

Gold Medallist – Best Academic Performance

Kushagra has notched up quite a few achievements while pursuing the Public Policy Program at IIMB. He got the highest CGPA in the PGPPM 2018-19 batch. He won the first prize in the quiz ‘Quoriosity’, at Utthan – the public policy summit hosted at IIMB in 2018. He bagged the first position during a trekking expedition at Dayara Bugyal, in the Himalayan Mountain Challenge (HMC), in 2018. He was the finalist at ‘Samadhan’, a public policy case study competition.

He says that his IIMB learning experience has been fulfilling in every possible way. In the near future, Kushagra looks forward to secure a senior public policy position in the Central Government, especially in the urban planning and logistics sector.

Discussing his family background, the 36-year-old Kushagra says, “My father works with LIC and my mother is a homemaker. They live in a village in Uttarakhand. My brother is a software engineer working with Deloitte, Hyderabad. My sister is a homemaker. I am married to Prachi, a postgraduate in management and now a happy homemaker. We have two children, daughter Olive and son Ekagra.”
