Listing the positives of the one-year full time Executive Post Graduate Programme in Management at IIMB, he says: "The EPGP has enabled me to enhance my managerial skills. The faculty here, having worked in international institutions and having served as Board members in large corporations, have the requisite knowledge and real-life exposure to boost classroom learning."

Highlighting the relevance of group learning at IIMB, he observes: "Along with individual learning, most of the subjects require the project to be done as a group. In the past one year, I got a chance to work in 23 projects with 30 of my classmates. Working with project team members gave me enormous learning on how to apply theoretical knowledge to handle real-world problems. The EPGP programme is structured to provide maximum learning in its one-year duration."
